Republicans Are Anticipating Landslide In Nation and State; Five Million Votes Are Expected to Be Cast in New York

Plurality Close to One Million Votes Given by Republicans in Advance Figuring Frauds Watched Units Are Watching Polling Closely in Larger Cities

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP)—Early balloting ran from light to moderate in New York state today as the vanguard of an estimated 5,000,000 voters went to the polls to choose between the Republican ticket headed by Governor Thomas E. Dewey and the Democratic Coalition slate led by U. S. Senator James M. Mead.

Republicans, looking for a landslide victory, privately predicted a plurality running from 500,000 to 1,000,000 for Dewey over Mead, the gubernatorial nominee of the Democratic, American Labor and Liberal parties. A Democratic spokesman foresaw triumph for his party of upward of 225,000.

The weather was clear, sunny and cool generally throughout the state. By 8 a. m. two hours after the polls opened, an estimated 10 per cent of the voters had cast ballots in New York city where registration totaled 2,713,136 of the state's 6,006,964.

The early vote was reported "moderate" in Buffalo and Syracuse, "average" in Rochester and "light" in Albany. There was no indication of the early trend in rural voting.

The confident Dewey forces gave no figures in their public predictions. State Chairman Glen B. Bodenknapp and Campaign Manager Aiger B. Chapman contended themselves with the forecast there would be an "overwhelming" Republican sweep, provided the turnout of voters was as large as expected.

Paul E. Fitzpatrick, Democratic state chairman, said his party would win by upward of 225,000. Expected to Face Mead Both sides expected Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, Democratic A. L. P.-Liberal candidate for U. S. Senator, to run ahead of Mead and the remainder of the Coalition ticket in his race against Irving M. Ives, Republican nominee.

The polls opened at 6 a. m. and will close at 7 p. m. Special police details were assigned to polling places in the larger cities and several sections of the State Bureau of Elections were functioning under the direction of the state attorney general. Partly cloudy and cool weather was forecast for the eastern part of the state. In the western half, fair and cooler was predicted.

In addition to electing a governor and U. S. senator, the voters were choosing a lieutenant governor, comptroller, attorney general, 45 members of the House of Representatives, a chief judge of the Court of Appeals, an associate judge of that court and a host of local officers.

Republican leaders said they expected to gain a minimum of three house seats and would not be surprised if the G. O. P. picked up 10 more than their present 22, which is the same number held by the Democrats.

Manhattan Is Focal Point

Interest in the many concededly close congressional contests centers in Manhattan's 18th district where a determined fight is on to oust Rep. Vito Marcantonio.

Marcantonio, the only American Labor Party member of Congress, has been denounced by Dewey as a follower of the Communist party line. The representative has denied he is a Communist. His Republican opponent, Frederick W. P. Bryan, a World War II veteran, has some independent Democratic support. Marcantonio, with Tammany endorsement, won the Democratic nomination last August. The district embraces East Harlem and Yorkville.

Another close contest is anticipated in Harlem's 22nd District, between Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (Democrat-A. L. P.) and a target of severe Dewey fire and Great Reynolds (Republican-Liberal).

The Republicans expect to enlarge their majorities in the State Senate and Assembly today. Some predict the G. O. P. will elect 110 to the Assembly, compared to the present 94, and 39 in the Senate, compared to the present 35.

Campaign Closes

The campaign closed last night with a flood of oratory. Dewey spoke twice from the executive

Mystery Blonde Is Not Daughter of Plattsburg Woman

Girl, Who Says She Is Susan Bower, Has No Pock Mark; Awaits Retrial Verdict

Hackensack, N. J., Nov. 5 (AP)—Bergen county jail attendants took a close look at their 20-year-old mystery blonde today and informed a Plattsburg, N. Y., woman the girl was not her daughter—the blonde has no pock mark between her eyebrows.

The girl, who gave her name as Susan Bower but said it was fictitious, was sentenced last Monday to a six-months jail term on a disorderly person charge after refusing to disclose her true identity. She had been picked up by police while trying to hitchhike in Palisades Park.

Given a retrial yesterday at the request of the American Civil Liberties Union, she languished contentedly in the county jail awaiting the decision of Judge Irving S. Reeve who said he would announce his retrial verdict tomorrow.

But the efforts of jail attendants to check her forehead for a possible pock mark left her unmoved. She had none, she said, and proved it.

The inquiry and pock-mark clue from the Plattsburg woman, had been forwarded to the jail by newspapermen. The woman had said pictures of the mystery blonde indicate she might be her daughter who disappeared five years ago.

In yesterday's retrial, James A. Major, Hackensack attorney for the American Civil Liberties Union, contended the complaint was invalid and asked dismissal of the charge and lifting of the sentence.

PM Announces It Will Accept Paid Advertising

New York, Nov. 5 (AP)—The newspaper PM announced Monday it would begin accepting paid advertising, a move followed by the resignation of its editor, Ralph Ingersoll, because of the switch in policy after six years.

Marshall Field, president and publisher, in announcing the change, said that John E. Lewis, now managing editor, would succeed Ingersoll who said in his letter of resignation: "No advertising in PM is woven into the fabric of my conception of the paper and my conviction remains unshaken that there should be at least one mass newspaper in this country supported solely by its readers."

Finnish Government Gets Vote of Confidence, 93-72

Stockholm, Nov. 5 (AP)—Dispatches from Helsinki reported that the Finnish government had won a parliamentary vote of confidence by the count of 93 to 72 today after a heated debate lasting nearly 24 hours.

The debate revolved around a demand by Rightist deputies for an explanation of the activities and methods employed by Finnish secret police. Government spokesmen hotly denied charges that political police had detained persons without due cause.

Appeals to Leftists

Athens, Nov. 5 (AP)—Constantine Kalkanis, new minister of public order, appealed today to leftist bands to abandon their anti-government campaign and promised that those responding favorably would be treated with exceptional leniency. Kalkanis said in a statement that most members of the movement were convinced that their cause was just but that actually they had become "the tools of a few men who have disregarded Greece's national interests." A bill now is being drawn up to set a deadline before which bands must surrender without incurring political punishment.

Feelings Are Tense

Bombay, Nov. 5 (AP)—The Moslem celebration of Bakr, Id, during which cattle—sacred to Hindus—are being sacrificed in dozens of mosques throughout the city, got off to a relatively quiet start today, but feeling was running high. Police said Hindus stoned three Moslem assemblages in Bombay as the Moslem's sacrificial ceremony—commemorating Abraham's act of slaughtering an animal instead of his son, Isaac—got under way. In two instances police opened fire, but no one was hit by the bullets. Six stabbing incidents also were reported.

50 Masons Given Honors by Lodge

Veterans' Night Exercises Are Held at Temple for 25-Year Men

Fifty Master Masons, who have been members of Rondout Lodge, No. 343, F. & A. M., for 25 or more years, were honored at Veterans' Night exercises held in Masonic Temple on Albany avenue on Monday evening, with the address delivered by Principal Clarence Dumm of the Kingston High School.

There are more than a hundred Master Masons who have been members for more than a quarter of a century, and letters of regret were received from many of those who were unable to attend last night.

Frank Strobel, Master of Rondout Lodge, presided and welcomed the veterans. Principal Dumm delivered an eloquent address, paying tribute to the veterans and their long years of service with the lodge.

Following the exercises refreshments were served in the dining hall of the Temple. Among the veterans present were: Those present who were 25 to 29 years a member: Donald M. Leith, 1917; Clarence Wollerstein, 1919; Edward J. Hillis, 1919; Fred L. VanDeusen, 1918; Fred Ahlers, 1919; George E. Lowe, 1921; Frank L. ### Attitude Towards Reds, However, Stirs Some Speculation on Elections

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

New York, Nov. 5 (AP)—Foreign diplomats deeply engrossed in the gigantic task of building world peace kept a sharp but discreetly silent watch on the American Congressional elections today.

Persons familiar with the views of many delegations to the United Nations Assembly and the Council of Foreign Ministers reported a general belief that present foreign policies are sufficiently bipartisan to rule out any major changes. But there has been enough political controversy over the present American attitude toward Russia in particular to raise speculation about post-election trends in the conduct of American diplomacy.

The Big-Four foreign ministers moved into their second day's work on the Eastern European peace treaties amid mounting evidence that Russian Foreign Minister Molotov will stage a last ditch fight to gain special advantages for Yugoslavia at the Adriatic port of Trieste.

The U. N. assembly appeared to be headed for a wide open fight over selection of a permanent home. One report was that the Russians might reverse their former stand against a site in Western Europe to favor Geneva, old League of Nations headquarters, as a home. Word of this possibility follows an American move to have San Francisco and New York as well as Westchester

Democrats All Over U. S. Are Fighting Uphill to Retain Grip on Legislative Bodies

GOP Needs 36 Seats

Ten Senate Seats, 36 House Are Needed for Control

(By The Associated Press)

In the first peacetime general election in six years, millions of Americans register their reaction today to nearly 15 months of government efforts to reorganize the nation from war to peace.

On that prime issue, Republicans confidently predicted the Democrats would be swept out of power in Congress, where they have held the upper hand in both houses since 1932.

Democrats, generally fighting a defensive battle against G. O. P. assaults on their handling of reconversion problems, conceded they may suffer some losses. But they contended they will keep the legislative machinery in their grasp. They apparently were more confident, however, of retaining senate control than of holding the house in line.

At stake in the election expected to bring out more than 35,000,000 citizens in weather forecast as fair and cool generally, although rainy in the south and snowy in the Rockies, are 35 senate places, 432 house seats and 33 governorships.

The Republicans need a net gain of 10 seats to win control of the senate and 26 to take over the house. The Democrats need seven in the senate and 17 in the house and still hold the legislative whip hand.

The possibility of a divided Congress, with the G. O. P. winning the house and the Democrats keeping the senate, already had started Washington's rumor factory talking of the possibility of a special session call immediately after the election.

But one responsible Democratic official, who asked not to be quoted by name, said President Truman has given no intimation of any such plan.

The office holder said Republicans undoubtedly would be able to block any administration-sponsored legislation in such a lame duck session. And he noted that there are no highly controversial nominations pending on which the President might want the present senate to act.

No Cabinet Discussion

The official added that there has been no recent discussion of possible cabinet changes, although there are reports that Robert E. Hannegan may quit as Democratic National Chairman next winter should the election results prove severely adverse to his party. Hannegan is expected by all concerned to remain as Postmaster General.

Across the nation other potential presidential candidates were involved in affairs of their own. Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, who carried the G. O. P. presidential banner in 1944, indirectly put himself in line for another try at it in 1948 with a reelection campaign. Republicans confidently predicted a substantial margin for Dewey over Senator James Mead, Democrat seeking to transfer from Washington to Albany.

A sizeable victory for Dewey was regarded as likely to carry Irving M. Ives, Republican, to success in his senate race with former Democratic Gov. Herbert Lehman. In Ohio, former Gov. John W. Bricker, who held second place in the 1944 Republican national ticket, strove for a wide majority over Democratic Senator James H. Huffman. In Michigan, Senator Arthur Vandenberg, mentioned as a possible presidential candidate, seemed to have only nominal opposition in Democrat James H. Loe.

Gov. Earl Warren of California, talked of as a possible darkhorse for the 1948 G. O. P. presidential nominee, gave last-minute aid to Senator William F. Knowland (R.), who was locked in a close tussle with Will Rogers, Jr., (D) in the senate race. Warren was sure of reelection, with both major party nominations.

Other Contests

Other senatorial contests which attracted attention included those between Senator David I. Walsh (D) and former Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., (R), in Massachusetts, the colorful battle between Senator Dennis Chavez (D) and former Ambassador Patrick J. Hurley (R) in New Mexico, and the effort of Gov. Edward Martin (R) to unseat Senator Joseph Guffey (R) in Pennsylvania.

Benton Is Tense; Fight May Result From Ballot Count

Situation Is Similar to That in Nearby McMinn County in August

Benton, Tenn., Nov. 5 (AP)—All was peaceful in Polk county for today's general election but a tense atmosphere pervaded this small southeast Tennessee town and the possibilities of a fight over the counting of ballots lurked in the background.

The situation was similar to that in adjoining McMinn county last August 1, when an ex-G. I. party seized control after ousting the entrenched political organization in a violent gun battle. In Polk county the candidates of the 16-year-old political organization of Burch Biggs were opposed by those backed by the Polk County Veterans Good Government League.

A. R. (Buck) Arp, Jr., league secretary, declared there would be trouble but that "no one knows just how ready we are." One leader of the Good Government League, who refused use of his name, said members of the organization had a large quantity of dynamite stored and were prepared to use it in the event of an election battle.

Biggs insisted there would be no trouble "unless outsiders come in and stir it up." Sheriff Burch Biggs, Jr., said no more than two special deputies had been hired to help in today's election, and his father said every one interested would be allowed to watch the vote counting.

The Polk veterans have had the benefit of advice from men who participated in the violence in Athens last August.

Capitant Says Policy Is Based on Alliance

Paris, Nov. 5 (AP)—Rene Capitant, close friend of Gen. Charles de Gaulle and education minister during de Gaulle's presidency, told a Gaullist union rally last night that the party's foreign policy was based on "an alliance with America in order to contain the menacing Russian imperialism."

Such an alliance also, he said, should aim to "guarantee to all the small nations the conditions of their independence and their free development." He described America as "the only industrial nation capable of helping us and without whom we will be condemned to living in penury."

His speech, in anticipation of the French election Sunday, was one of the clearest pro-American and anti-Russian statements of any French politician since the liberation.

Most observers agreed that it reflected de Gaulle's increasing abandonment of the strict neutrality between east and west which was the cornerstone of his foreign policy when he was president of the interim government.

British to Try Krupp On Crimes Counts

Frankfurt, Germany, Nov. 5 (AP)—American and British war crimes authorities were reported today to have reached an agreement whereby the British will try Alfred Krupp, youthful head of the Krupp armament firm, on war crimes charges. Sources close to the negotiations said Krupp's ailing father, Gustav, probably would be turned over to the British in connection with the investigation of the huge concern which fed the German war machine through two world wars.

The father is a prisoner of the Americans. The son is in British internment.

Clay Says A. M. C. Is Mad at Germans

German Council Is Told Denazification Acts Are Disappointing

Stuttgart, Germany, Nov. 5 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay told the German Council of State today that the American Military Government was "thoroughly disappointed" with the German performance in handling denazification.

Unless the Germans improve quickly, he said, the military government will take over the job itself. The deputy military governor of the American occupation zone announced an immediate order that no German who had been removed from office by the military government might be returned to office without military government approval, even though tried and cleared of nazism by German denazification courts.

It was the sharpest criticism yet made of the provisional German government by military government officials who last spring turned over to the Germans the responsibility for clearing their own ranks of Nazism in the American zone.

German officials from the three states in the American zone listened in glum silence to the sharp reproof.

Although Clay said yesterday in

Connecticut Expects Record 'Off-Year' Vote; Issues Hot

Hartford, Conn., Nov. 5 (AP)—Connecticut chooses today a United States Senator, six representatives, a governor and other state officials.

Fair and colder election day weather strengthened the expectations of rival party leaders for a record "off-year" vote. An estimated 940,000 are eligible, and between 650,000 and 675,000 were expected to cast ballots between 6 a. m. and 6 p. m.

The customary conflicting claims of victory were reiterated as the two major parties closed their campaigns with election-day radio broadcasts in which the issue of Communism was debated.

Counting on a ten-year record of victories in non-presidential elections, Republicans predicted an "overwhelming" landslide. Democrats were equally insistent they would triumph.

A Republican contention that the Communists were "firmly entrenched" in the Democratic party brought a Democratic charge that Republicans were preaching a "gospel of hate."

Raymond E. Baldwin, three-term Republican governor, is seeking the United States Senatorship against two Democratic rivals, Wilbur L. Cross, and Joseph M. Ture, former state labor commissioner.

Dr. Cross, a former four-term governor, was nominated for the short term, from election day until January 3, and Ture for the full six-year term.

The seat is held by Admiral Thomas C. Hart (R), given a gubernatorial appointment to fill until election day the vacancy created by the death of the late Francis T. Maloney (D). Hart declined to run.

The contest for the governorship pits two former Wesleyan University colleagues against each other. They are Lieut. Gov. Wilbert Snow (D), a poet-professor now on the faculty, and Dr. James L. McCaughy, retired Wesleyan president.

Connecticut's six seats in the house are now held by two Republicans and four Democrats. The Republicans, Clare Boothe Luce and Joseph E. Talbot, are not seeking re-election, but all four Democratic incumbents are fighting to retain their seats.

Early Voting Is Reported as Heavy In New York City

25 Per Cent of Votes Cast at 10 a. m.; Violence Occurs Before Polls Open

New York, Nov. 5 (AP)—The vanguard of New York city's 2,713,136 registered voters, enjoying ideal autumn weather, voted this morning in heavier than usual numbers, with nearly 25 per cent of the electorate casting ballots by 10 a. m., hours after the polls opened.

Usually balloting during the first four hours totals about 20 per cent of the registered voters. Polling places close at 7 p. m.

The Election Frauds Bureau of the attorney general's office received the first report of violence in connection with the election shortly before the polls opened.

county considered for the permanent headquarters.

Debate Is Assured

A formal 51-nation debate also was assured on proposals to take United Nations action against the Franco regime in Spain.

The Security Council yesterday dropped the Spanish issue from its agenda so the assembly might act. While the United Nations continued a heavy schedule of committee work at Lake Success, L. I., the foreign minister of American, Britain, Russia and France, meeting in a Manhattan hotel, rapidly came to grips with the basic issue of making peace in Europe. Their second session was scheduled for 3:30 p. m. E.S.T.

Molotov, Secretary of State Byrnes and British Foreign Secretary Bevin met at yesterday's opening session, over which Byrnes presided.

Initial routines were quickly dispensed with. The Big Four decided to take up the Italian peace treaty first and then, in order, treaties with Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland.

These treaties were originally drafted by the Big Four. Then the Paris peace conference, which closed October 15, made recommendations which form the basis of the Big Four's effort here to write final drafts.

Discussion had hardly begun on the Italian treaty yesterday when the Trieste issue was raised, emphasizing the split between Russia and the western powers.

To Hear Arguments

The foreign ministers agreed to hear arguments from Yugoslavia and Italy over the kind of United Nations government that should be set up over the strategic port city.

Yugoslavia proposed that Yugoslavia be permitted to discuss also the question of frontiers for the Trieste area.

Byrnes and Bevin objected on the ground that the Big Four previously had agreed on the frontiers. It was finally decided that if Yugoslavia touched on the boundary issue, her spokesman would not be ruled out of order but neither would be the issue be considered reopened. Molotov had plainly indicated that the long and sometimes deadlocked struggle over Trieste is not yet ended.

The difficulties facing the foreign ministers were underscored late yesterday when the Italian government handed the Council a general denunciation of the Italian peace treaty draft, declaring that it is "not in keeping with the principles of the Atlantic Charter."

The note was delivered by Italian Ambassador Alberto Tarchiani.

The Italians "insisted" that the foreign ministers order a plebiscite in the contested areas along the Yugoslav frontier to determine the border. They also protested the loss of Italian colonies, arms limitation clauses which "leave Italy undefended" and the burden of proposed reparations.

H. van Hoevenberg Dies in New Haven

Former Kingstonian Was Soil Analyst, Writer

Huyler van Hoevenberg, son of the late Dr. Henry and Sarah Louise Wood van Hoevenberg, died on Sunday, November 3, at New Haven, Conn.

Mr. van Hoevenberg graduated from old Kingston Academy in the class of 1899 and then attended Rutgers College where he was a member of the class of 1903. Later he took a post graduate course at Iowa State College in topography and soil analysis and spent several years traveling in the Andes Mountains and other regions of South and Central America, searching for mineral fields for a British nitrate company. Of late years Mr. van Hoevenberg lived in Redding Ridge, Conn., where he devoted himself to writing.

He is survived by his wife, Louise Ridge van Hoevenberg, a sister, Louise W. of Kingston and another Henry of Port Antonio, Wash.

Funeral services will be held at the Fair Street Dutch Reformed Church on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and a memorial service will be held at Christ Episcopal Church, Redding Ridge, Conn., on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

LEIBHARDT

Leibhardt, Nov. 5—Mrs. D. Lypka returned home Saturday after spending two weeks with her friend, Mrs. Stott in Methuen, Mass.

Glen Brown and friend of Kerhonkson spent Friday night with his grandfather, William Brown. Mrs. H. C. Locke left last week for Paris, France.

Mrs. Lillian Brown of Samsonville fell last Sunday night, breaking her arm above the elbow. She was removed Saturday to the Benedictine Hospital in Kingston. Floyd Brown and brother Wilber of Samsonville called Sunday morning on their aunt and cousins at the Gorsline home.

Mrs. Fannie Dresbold and son Sidney of Hackensack, N. J., spent a few days last week at their home in Mombaccus and also called on friends in this area Friday.

Mrs. Ernest Koehler accompanied her husband home on Tuesday to New York after spending the summer months at their home in Rochester Center.

Visitors on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Schedinger included Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kane and son of St. Albans, L. I. Mrs. P. Sturz and daughter Lena Jane from Texas and Mrs. D. Lypka.

Mrs. Lena Lypka and son Alex entertained over the week-end the former's sister, Mrs. Anna Koehn and other relatives.

Richard Mueller of Rochester Center was removed to the Kingston Hospital last Sunday suffering from injuries said to have been sustained when he was thrown from a horse. It was reported that he was weakened by loss of blood. His condition is said to be improved.

State Says Powell Falsified in His Prison Declaration

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP)—Charges of discrimination against negro inmates of Sing Sing prison, attributed to Rep. Adam Clayton Powell of New York, are termed by the State Correction Department as "ridiculous falsifications."

Powell, Democratic and A.L.P. candidate for reelection from New York's 22nd District (Harlem), is opposed by Republican Grant Reynolds, a member of the State Commission of Correction. A statement last night by William E. Leonard, deputy commissioner of correction, said Powell was credited with statements to the effect that "with the knowledge of Mr. Reynolds negro inmates at Sing Sing prison are discriminated against by not receiving the same privileges as white inmates; by being separated from whites; and, otherwise, that the employment of negroes has been terminated without just cause."

Leonard declared that the Department of Correction considered "the alleged statements" were made for "political reasons" in Powell's campaign for reelection. He said the Department "emphatically" denied "any discrimination due to race, color or creed at Sing Sing prison or at any other institution under the jurisdiction of the Department."

"Those persons familiar with the Administration of Penal Institutions in New York are well aware of the fact that the statements made by Congressman Powell in his recent political speech are ridiculous falsifications."

Powell made the speech last Sunday night at a Harlem rally.

Washington, Nov. 5 (AP)—If history runs true to form, the nation's voters will decide today—two years in advance—which political party is to take over the presidency in the 1948 elections. Only once since the Civil War, and it was a quick then, has the party which won control of the House in an off-year election failed to put its candidate into the White House two years later.

This is an off-year election. The exception that proved the rule was in 1876, when Democrats won the House. Two years later, Samuel Tilden, a Democrat, won a popular vote majority in the presidential race, but the election was thrown into the House when some southern electoral votes were challenged. A Republican, Rutherford B. Hayes, was seated as president.

Savings Bonds Sales Given
Washington, Nov. 5 (AP)—Sales of all three issues of government savings bonds totaled $519,371,000 during October, making the total for the first 10 months of the year $6,398,155,000. A treasury report today said that for the Series E (war bond) issue alone, however, October sales of $326,794,000 fell $82,741,000 short in cash-ins. A stepped up sales campaign is to begin next Monday.

Milk Quota to Be Announced Friday

Administrator Says Short Supplies to Be Avoided During Low Season

New York, Nov. 5 (AP)—Milk dealers will be told Friday the minimum amount of milk they will be required to ship into the New York metropolitan area to avoid the possibility of a milk shortage in the present short supply season.

C. J. Blanford, administrator of the New York milk marketing area, said last night that a meeting requested by New York City Health Commissioner Israel Weinstein would be held Friday morning at the Hotel Commodore here.

"We have now entered the season of the year when milk supplies reach their low point," Blanford said in a statement. "At the present time the New York area has adequate supplies of fluid milk but at this time of year there is always the threat of a shortage."

It is hoped that by the establishment of the percentage of fluid milk which dealers must ship to the area, a serious shortage will be avoided this year. Indications now are that the percentage to be established will be 90 per cent.

Under provisions in the federal and state milk marketing orders, Blanford has authority to suspend New York pool plants if they fail to meet the percentage requirement set for the winter season or use milk for other than fluid purposes.

The World Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

India is making imperishable history these days in her search for ways of implementing the independence which Britain has offered her, but one of the most striking developments is the spectacle of Hindu and Moslem leaders joining hands to plead with their peoples for cessation of the bloody communal disorders which have been sweeping Bengal and other parts of the country.

It would be hard to find enemies more bitter than the rank and file of the Moslems and the Hindus, who have been at each other's throats for centuries. Through long generations the feud was religious and racial, and when political consciousness arrived the great political parties unfortunately divided on those lines. Thus today the essence of the so-called political disorder is religious and racial—these two things being mainly synonymous in this case.

Tradition has had it that the Hindus and the Moslems never could be brought together. I first encountered this back in 1916 in India, and found the same belief still prevailing during a visit in 1942-3. Indeed so fierce was the hatred between the two religious groups that it took a lot of faith in human nature to challenge that tradition.

Controversy Broke Offer

The British offer of dominion status in 1942 crashed on the rocks of the Hindu-Moslem controversy. And when early this year the new Socialist government of England offered India independence, the project long was held up by the feud. The stalemate was broken only when the British resorted to the daringly arbitrary idea of establishing a provisional government and inviting both sides to come and run it.

Now we find the Hindu and Moslem leaders journeying together from New Delhi to Calcutta to make a joint appeal to communal rioters to cease their strife, which has cost more than 5,000 lives and injured some 13,320 in various parts of the country since July 1. The two Hindu leaders are none other than the famous Pandit Nehru, head of the new provisional government and former president of the All India Congress (which is predominantly Hindu), and Sardar Patel, another Congress chief. The others are Liaquat Ali Khan, secretary of the Moslem League, and Sardar Abdur Rab Nishtar, also a League official.

One swallow doesn't make a summer, and one incident of this sort doesn't solve India's problem—but it is an encouraging demonstration of at least temporary solidarity. It should be enough to convince even the most skeptical that the Hindus and Moslems can work together. As a matter of fact I've seen them even living in perfect harmony.

Carried on by Ignorant

In order to get a full understanding of the position, one must know that much of the communal rioting is carried out by wholly ignorant and backward people who might properly be characterized as primitives. Nehru himself was the victim recently of real savagery when he was up in the Khyber Pass on the northwest frontier. There Moslem tribesmen attacked the party of the Hindu leader and things looked very nasty for a time.

That incident could be put down to "communal strife" but the fact is that these tribesmen literally are savages, whose main business in life is robbery and killing. They are a tough lot, as I well know, having ridden with British troops when they rounded up 600 of these fellows back in 1916.

So it's a mistake to try to gauge the temper of modern India by such demonstrations, because they belong to the dark past.

Youths Get Life

Yuba City, Calif., Nov. 5 (AP)—Billy Anderson, 16, and Nathan James, 15, convicted last week of the slaying of the former's father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Anderson, have been sentenced to life imprisonment in San Quentin Prison.

The last British king to take part in a battle was George II, who ruled from 1727 to 1760.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, NOVEMBER 5, 1946

NO SENSE IN THIS

A private in the American army was returned in handcuffs the other day from Japan to begin a 30-year prison sentence on a penal island off the coast of the state of Washington. The soldier had been court-martialed and sentenced for killing two Japanese civilians.

Presumably the young man had a fair trial, with all the evidence considered, and was declared guilty only after all possibility of doubt or mitigating circumstances had been removed. The sentence was doubtless fair. But how bewildering to the ordinary citizen seems the logic of their countrymen who had trained this lad to kill Japs, and who had themselves killed untold thousands of Japanese civilians in the atom bombing of two cities.

The thing there is no sense in is war. For in war peaceable people are brought to consider it a virtue to do things which have always been held up to them as crimes.

The sooner people everywhere come to realize that wartime conditions are over, and that the world should begin to function according to the dictates of peace, the better. And most important is the realization that war is the one thing in human history that makes no sense.

Some of the news from the Philippines seems almost like the losing of a war. Fighting in that area is over, but the friendly conquest of the Philippine people, apparently, is not as effective as Americans have expected. The situation is described as frankly bad, and getting worse. Reports tell of growing resentment.

SHAKESPEARE

An original copy of Shakespeare is sold again, most recent in the long chain of book-buying and exchanges of the poet's works over a period of some four centuries. The owner is doubtless very proud of his treasure—as what intelligent man anywhere in the world would not be? And any of us, with such a possession, would be inclined to speak of "My Shakespeare."

But there is pretty good authority derived from the author himself, and likewise from his close friend Ben Jonson, that the supreme poet and dramatist of all time would rather have his books read in cheap editions and kept alive in warm human hands and hearts, than locked up expensively in libraries.

This greatest of all playwrights and writers since the world began, the most varied and human of all geniuses, has had his ups and downs in public appreciation again and again, and there have been times when he seemed to pass almost entirely out of the public mind of the world. But always inevitably he rises again to the top of all literature and drama, to the head of all interpreters of humanity.

This present epoch is one of the dull times, when the supreme master of literature, drama and human understanding seems buried in a world of gadgets, comics and trivialities. But this phase, too, will pass. Wise parents and teachers will do well to keep Shakespeare alive "where life most lives, even in the mouths of men."

One of the saddest sights is a collarless dog, looking for his master who has deliberately left him behind at a vacation resort.

IMPROVING ARMY CHOW

If your son kicked about army food, he may have been right. The army admits this now, and has set the Quartermaster Corps out on a research program in 80 colleges, universities and private laboratories to see what can be done about it.

Dehydrated potatoes, evaporated and powdered milk and army bread caused many of the gripes, all justly. The army is particularly interested just now in trying to develop a canned bread which will not grow moldy and stale in a few days. Otherwise it will be necessary to fall back on that army staple of many years, hardtack.

With all these faults army food was better

WITHOUT NORMAN THOMAS

For years and years, it seems beyond the memory of man, the name of Norman Thomas appeared on the ballot as the candidate of something or other under the label of the Socialist party. Norman Thomas succeeded the perennial Eugene V. Debs.

When a citizen found it beyond his conscience to vote for the candidate of his own party and the opponent was too contemptible, he voted for Norman Thomas, who thus polled a sizable protest vote. Of course, there have always been some Socialists who voted for Norman Thomas, but in recent years, their numbers have been few.

It was sound democratic action to have this protest column because it told the political bosses that there were independent citizens who took the election seriously and could not be led around by the nose, and at the same time, it gave the citizen a vehicle for wholesome moral indignation. I, myself, voted for neither Franklin D. Roosevelt nor Wendell Willkie in 1940, because neither the practicality of casting for the winning candidate nor party regularity could impel me to accept either of these men. Instead, I resorted to moral indignation. It was a wholesome, clean feeling.

Well, this year Norman Thomas' name will appear on no ballot. In fact, after years and years, the Socialist party has disappeared from the ballot in New York state. This was accomplished by legislative shenanigans of a low order. The Socialists were on the ballot, but the Democrats maneuvered to have them thrown off. It was a little cheapness, which impelled the Democrats to dig up little cases against little parties, but I suppose a desperate major party often becomes a foolish and trivial party.

What the Democrats did was to bring a case in a chosen county before a chosen judge, under an obscure provision of the Election Law by which an aggrieved candidate can go into a court and have his grievance respected by a judge who is willing to do it. So the Democratic candidate for controller went before Judge Murray in Rensselaer county to get the deed done. And, of course, the judge followed the letter of the law, which some judges do.

The Socialists have none of the advantages of the Communists. They do not have a press, nor do they count among their numbers imbecilic millionaires who finance any crazy movement so long as it is against them, which by some suicidal process they are impelled to do. The remaining Socialists are idealistic folks, usually of high intellectual calibre, who believe what they do through conviction and conscience. A Communist, on the other hand, can make a deal with anyone for a stated period, provided there is ample advantage for the Commies. So the two Communist minor candidates managed to stay on the ballot for the sole purpose of getting enough votes to qualify the party for the next election. Actually, the Communists in New York state will vote for the principal Democratic candidates on the American Labor Party line. In fact, as of today's writing, the American Labor Party—a Communist outfit—is in control of the Democratic party in New York state.

So the Commies stay on the ballot, but the Socialists were thrown off. Of course, there is always a justifiable legalism for such an action, but it makes no sense just the same. If the few who want to vote Socialist seek that party's candidates on the ballot, they should find them there. A free people should be able to vote for officials of their choice.

I shall miss Norman Thomas' name on the ballot. It was always so refreshing. It was true Americana. It represented the idealism of John Brown, or even of those curious idealists who gathered in Ripon, Wis., to found the Republican party amid hymns and prayer. It represented the American unafraid, who asked no quarter and compromised with no man on what he believed to be the truth.

So they kicked the party of Norman Thomas off the ballot. Maybe the Democrats did it to please the Communists, who hate the Socialists worse than anyone else on earth. If so, it was a cheap deal. (Copyright, 1946, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

THAT BODY OF YOURS

IRON IN BLOOD

Many of us do not realize that while we may be exactly the same individual at the same time every day we are not the same individual insofar as height, weight, blood pressure, iron in the blood, temperature of the body and other conditions during the entire day. For instance we know we are a half inch to an inch taller in the morning than in the evening, that our temperature is 1 to 2 degrees higher at 4 p. m. than when we arise in the morning, that our blood pressure is 10 to 20 points lower on arising than after a heavy meal at noon or 6 p. m.

What may be of interest to those who are carefully watching their hemoglobin—the amount of iron in the blood—is that immediately after and for an hour after a meal the reading of the hemoglobin may be 5 to 10 per cent lower than before the meal was eaten. One might naturally expect that after eating a beefsteak and some green vegetables, which are rich in iron, the percentage of hemoglobin in the blood would be higher not lower.

In the Edinburgh Medical Journal Dr. A. W. Branwood shows that the percentage of hemoglobin in the blood under skin, that is taken at usual places, tip of finger, or lobe of ear, is not the same throughout the day; that there is usually a fall in hemoglobin of 5 to 10 per cent after eating. The fall in hemoglobin is in proportion to the size of the meal—the larger the meal the greater the fall. There is also, presumably a fall in the number of red corpuscles (which contain the hemoglobin) at this time.

What does this mean to those patients with anemia—thin blood?

It means that when hemoglobin values are taken periodically they should not be estimated within three hours following a large meal or should be estimated at the same time of day.

Why should there be a decrease of hemoglobin after a meal instead of an increase?

This is because Nature sends more rich blood down to stomach and intestine to aid digestion. After food is absorbed into blood, hemoglobin rises again.

When the Next Congress Is Seated

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

(Who has spent the last four years abroad)
New York, Nov. 5 (AP)—It might be that the best way to enjoy travel abroad is with your shoes off.

"Museum Feet" become a holiday disease with the average vacationist because he falls victim to foreign guides who try to inflict ten centuries of culture on him in ten days.

Elmer J. Tourist goes overseas with a wistful look of having a good time. Instead he gets caught in a travel mill that makes his trip a day and nightmarish march of climbing monuments, walking through endless art galleries and moping mouselike among moldering churches.

Why does he do it? Because he's afraid somebody will think him a lowbrow—which he really knows he is anyway.

So Elmer becomes an unhappy prisoner in a small flock of fellow-Americans cheeping and chirping as their despotic guide shepherds them from one pigeon target to another. All he learns is what he reads in his guidebook: "St. Paul's Church is a dignified edifice in Renaissance style and has an area of 59,700 square-feet," it says here in small print.

Nuts to that! Be your own Marco Polo.

Make a rule never to visit more than one church, one monument and one art gallery in any one country. These places are just cultural cemeteries with long staircases, largely frequented by people who don't know what to do with themselves.

More Fun Reading
In most cases you can have more fun reading about them in your guidebook while lying in bed in your hotel room in your stocking feet. A cognac will help you through the dull descriptions.

Then, when you've finished reading, how the people used to live, you can rise fresh and rested and set about seeing how they live now. And that will teach you more than a hundred guided lectures.

Fun To Be A Sucker
You'll be sorry if you don't go to at least one night club and stir up your stomach with a $17.50 bottle of green champagne. It's fun to be a sucker—once.

As for company, you are likely to find plenty in the bistros of Europe. In Paris, if a lady plays "drop the handkerchief" with you, don't address her as "cheri" for at least twenty minutes.

The French girls like their men subtle.

Flowers Tell Story

Girls working at the United Nations Food and Agricultural Organization conference in Copenhagen, Denmark, wore flowers in their hair—paper blossoms, the color of which denoted what language the girls could speak. Blue was for English, red for French and green for Danish. Some girls wore all three.

Independents Are Considered Voters to Get, for They Are Considered Those Who Control Elections
By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 5—The election unquestionably was decided by "independent" voters. This means the groups who do not vote the same way in every election. The "straight-ticket" voters in both parties are no longer the controlling factor. The balance of power is held by those who shift according to the issues offered or the candidates presented.

There are congressional districts in which a change of only three per cent from one election to the other is enough to swing victory from one side to the other. The sum total of all these shifting groups throughout the nation produces the election victory.

Back in 1932 a substantial number of Republican voters left their party to vote for Franklin D. Roosevelt. By 1936 some of them had gone back to their party but not enough to affect the outcome. In 1940, with war issues in the offing, the return to the Republican Party was again checked and likewise in 1944.

It was in the Congressional elections each time between presidential elections that the Republicans showed signs of winning back their original constituents. But the Republican gains in these off-year elections were not retained when the presidential election swept Democratic members of congress into office on the coattails of F.D.R.

With the 1946 congressional election over, the question will arise whether political history, as it happened in 1936, 1940 and 1944, will be repeated or whether in 1948 the Republican tide will keep on mounting.

Obviously when a national election can be personified, the tendency of the voters is to choose between the two major party candidates and vote the straight party ticket for the remainder of the candidates. This is the reason why some excellent Republican members lost out in presidential years.

The growth in independent voting has made elections more and more difficult to control by machines or party organizations. It is a relatively simple matter, however, to concentrate political campaigning in key cities and get enough electoral votes that way to swing a majority in a presidential election.

In the congressional campaign just closed, it may be said that impressions formed long before today actually influenced the votes and prejudiced them one way or the other on the issues and the candidates. (Reproduction Rights Reserved)

MODENA

Modena, Nov. 4—Mrs. Lavinia Coy, Mrs. Carrie West and Mrs. Helen Cox were hostesses at a stork shower given Mrs. Wilfred Doolittle of Tillson, at the home of Mrs. Lavinia Coy Saturday evening. Miss Helen Faye of Long Island was in charge of the blue and yellow decorations and Mrs. Merrill Small provided the refreshments. Attending were Mrs. Beatrice Wager, Irene Petrucci, Barbara DuBois, Kathryn Wager, Hilda Barsch, Elsie Coy, Addie Rinehart, Myrtle Grigg, Marie Winters, Betty Cosman, Mrs. A. W. Small, Helen Coy, Helen Faye, Ruth Nickerson, Hattie Harris, Catherine Decker, Carrie Rooney, Florence Riley, Clara Dolly and Frances Siregnolo. Virginia Perkins, Mrs. Carrie West and the guest of honor.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Molson are the parents of twin babies, born October 31 at St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh.

Students of the Modena school enjoyed a Halloween party, Thursday in the school, with costumes of various types adding to the gaiety of the party. School was closed Friday as teachers Tighue and Boyle attended Teachers Conference.

Frank Faye and Miss Helen Faye of Long Island were weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Small and son Merrill.

Mrs. William Lord of Bridgeport, Mrs. Louis Denton, Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. James Denton and son Robert, of Highland, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Wager and family Tuesday.

Mrs. Oscar Smith and Miss Margaret Smith visited Mrs. Grace Grant of New Paltz at a Kingston Hospital last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Doolittle of Tillson were among dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Small Sunday.

Mrs. Freston Patridge spent several days the past week at the home of her daughter Mrs. Solie Bernard, Jr., and family, near Poughkeepsie.

Roy Every of Gardiner was a recent business visitor in town.

It is hoped that Sally Ann Williams of Kingston, who found the roll of $300 on a recent trip to New York, is more fortunate than the small boy of Modena, who found a much smaller amount ($10) at Clintondale last summer.

The boy, who was attending the summer session of Bible school in Clintondale found a wallet containing the money, while crossing the church lawn. He said he gave it to one of the teachers of the classes, who was to post it for identification. No report has been given, regarding it.

Nov. 5, 1926—Cornelius Hume resigned as treasurer of the Ulster County Tri-Committee, after 17 years of service. Charles Snyder was elected his successor.

Milton P. Townsend elected president of Kingston Local Union of Christian Endeavor at annual meeting.

Victor E. Snyder and Miss Mary N. Vetter married.

Astronomer Is Hurt In Pasadena Fall

Pasadena, Calif., Nov. 3 (AP)—Alfred H. Joy, 64, international astronomer, was in a serious condition today, following a fall in the big dome of Mt. Wilson observatory's 100-inch telescope.

He is still in a daze, and cannot tell exactly what happened, reported his wife.

Dr. Joy suffered two broken arms and a fractured left leg when he fell from the observatory platform to a concrete tier 20 feet below, as he made midnight pitch-dark calculations in connection with his life work of charting and photographing the Milky Way. A giant crane, employed heretofore only for moving heavy pieces of astronomical equipment, was used to lower him to a waiting ambulance.

Pears should not be put in the refrigerator until they are soft and ripe.

mansion on statewide radio broadcast. In his first speech he appealed to every eligible voter to go to the polls and choose between what he described as his administration's "teamwork government" and the "confusion and chaos" of the national administration.

In his second talk he said his administration had proved that government can have both a "heart and a head," can be both "progressive and solvent," and can be responsible and at the same time make unparalleled forward strides in social progress.

Mead, in a broadcast from his home city of Buffalo, charged that Dewey was using his position to court support of national "reactionary Republican leaders" in an "all-consuming desire to be president."

Ives, from his home city of Norwich, predicted to a radio audience that today "the American people will reassert their faith in free competitive enterprise, free trade unionism and free government" by electing Republican candidates.

Lehman, broadcasting from New York city, declared the result of the election would determine "whether the liberal point of view shall prevail over the gathering forces of reaction."

Urbaytis Is Killed

Toledo, O., Nov. 3 (AP)—Joe Urbaytis, who served 19 years imprisonment for participating in the $1,000,000 Toledo post office robbery in 1921, was shot to death early today in his supper club. Capt. Ralph Murphy of the Toledo police homicide squad said today. Murphy said Urbaytis, 46, was shot in the chest and shoulder and died in a few minutes, stubbornly refusing to identify his slayer or slayers. Murphy added that no witnesses to the slaying had been found. Urbaytis and five other men held up a mail truck in February 1921 and seized nine mail sacks filled with Liberty Bonds, jewelry and cash. He was arrested two days later.

to sent the voters to the polls in vast numbers.

Rep. Clarence J. Brown, Republican campaign director, upped by five seats his previous estimates on G.O.P. gains in the house, declaring:

"I am not satisfied that we will make a net gain in the house of between 50 and 60 seats, with a rock bottom figure of 45."

"We are going to win a majority in the senate by either one or two seats," Brown added. "We may win two or three more."

He said his figures were based on reports that the G.O.P. had organized "with unusual effectiveness" to get out the vote.

"The people have determined to regain control of their government," Brown declared. "They had had enough of controls, confusion, corruption and Communism of the present administration."

Omaha Voters Are Given 13-Foot Ballot Today

Omaha, Nov. 3 (AP)—Voting in Omaha today was like curling up with a good book.

Voters were handed a 13-foot ballot containing 26,000 words—half the length of the average novel.

Most of the 57 questions pertain to a proposed $15,000,000 city-wide improvement plan.

The unwieldy ballot was expected to slow up both voting and counting of votes. Mayor Charles W. Leeman appealed to citizens to make up their minds beforehand to avoid congestion at the polls.

Snafu Worse Than Ever

To end queuing for the 'steams'—free washing booths—the Bath Department of Glasgow, Scotland, circularized 75,000 housewives asking them to name the most suitable day for advance booking of a washing-stall.

Twice as many women replied as normally use the wash-houses. Result—every day will be queue day and not, as before, only the popular Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays.

Home Bureau Tells How to Make Soap

Gives Directions on Way to Prepare It at Home

In answer to a number of requests for directions on how to make soap at home, the Ulster County Home Bureau passes on the following recommendations received from the College of Home Economics.

Mild soap may be made from only three ingredients; fat, water and lye. If hard fat, such as beef or mutton is used, the proportion is 6 pounds of fat, 6 cups of water, and one can of lye. If a soft fat such as lard or bacon fat is used, the same amounts of fat and lye but reduce the water to 4 cups. The soap may be made stronger by adding 1 1/2 tablespoons of borax and 1/2 cup ammonia.

Fat used for soap should be clarified. This is done by boiling the fat in a large quantity of water with a raw sliced potato. Strain it through a muslin cloth and allow to cool, then skim off the fat. If the fat contains salt, clarify it a second time as salt in the fat makes soap crumbly. Melt the fat before using and be sure all the water has boiled out. When it stops crackling it should be taken from the fire to prevent scorching.

Add the lye slowly to the cold water (never add the water to the lye). Pour the lye solution into the melted fat, stirring it all the time. Stir or beat with an egg beater for 15 to 20 minutes or until the soap is the consistency of honey. Soap can be made to float by beating in a large amount of air.

Pour the soap into a cardboard box lined with waxed paper, and when set score it with a knife. In about 24 hours or when hard enough, cut it into bars with a stout string. Set the bars away in a covered container for 5 to 6 weeks before using. This gives time for all the lye to combine with all the fat to form soap. If used before this happens, the free lye in the soap will hurt the hands and injure fine fabrics.

Homemade soap can be scented for toilet purposes by adding an oil such as oil of lavender to the other ingredients.

"Make soap in an enameled kettle and use a wooden spoon or stick for stirring because lye destroys aluminum," cautions Miss Remsburg, Home Management Specialist of the College of Home Economics. Handle the lye solution with care because it will damage skin, metal, clothing, and many other materials. If any is spilled,

Providence Is Credited With Calming Hurricane

Miami, Fla., Nov. 5 (AP)—A flood of letters to the Weather Bureau declared the power of prayer dispelled the hurricane of October 6-9 and converted it into a "ghost storm" that did negligible damage.

An official report of the storm made public yesterday described other factors, but included this statement: "The potential damage, especially to the citrus crop, was so great, and the actual damage so small, that many in Florida attributed it to the miraculous intervention of Providence in answer to statewide invocations."

Grady Norton, chief of the Storm Warning Service, reported he received a flood of letters from persons who said they prayed that the state be spared the visitation by the vicious winds.

Norton did not disagree but looked a bit further on his official report and observed that the hurricane suddenly accelerated its forward movement from 14 miles an hour to 35 miles an hour, and in effect disintegrated as an organized storm.

Farm Machine Output Drops During September

Washington, Nov. 5 (AP)—The Civilian Production Administration reported that September production of farm equipment declined about five percent from the August level, which was a previous record high.

Dollar value of $83,275,584, while lower than the August production of $86,767,205, exceeded C.P.A.'s estimate of $58,000,000 for September.

C.P.A. attributed the decline principally to the fact that there were three less working days in September than in the previous month.

Dogged by Bad Luck

Centralia, Ill. (AP)—Jack Sligar here advertised for a roof over his family's head. "Wanted immediately—Unfurnished apartment or house. Man, wife and daughter, 8. Will dispose of dog, but prefer to keep child." Then, before Sligar could line up a prospective landlord, the dog gave birth to eight puppies.

Iika Chase Will Marry Her Personal Physician

Las Vegas, Nev., Nov. 5 (AP)—Iika Chase and Dr. Norton S. Brown, wartime navy commander, plan to be married during the Christmas holidays, shortly after each obtains a divorce here.

The author, actress and lecturer announced her separation from William M. Murray, 35-year-old New York theatrical executive, on October 23. They have been married 10 years. Miss Chase, 38, was married earlier to actor Louis Calhern.

"It is our plan to be married," said Miss Chase, "but any announcement is premature, don't you know, because, after all, we have not yet been divorced." Dr. Brown has been my doctor for years.

TABLE COVERING FOR BUFFET MEAL

A reader asks about table covering for a buffet meal. She says: "Ordinarily we use mats, and I have no damask table cloth. Can I use mats or must I borrow a tablecloth from a friend?"

The setting of a buffet table is the most unregulated table setting possible. The object is to make the food look appetizing and to place it in such a way as to be convenient to serve. Apart from having something under the hot dishes to keep them from burning your table, there is literally no rule about the table covering—or setting.

Acceptance of Invitation

Dear Mrs. Post: What is the correct acceptance to an invitation such as the following: The Drama Club cordially invites Mrs. John Brown to become an active member of the club.

The dues of five dollars a year payable on receipt of a bill from the Treasurer include two tickets to each performance.

Answer: Word your note: "Mrs. John Brown is glad to accept the invitation of the Drama Club to become a member, and will send her dues on receipt of notification."

No Short Sleeves

Dear Mrs. Post: May a short-sleeved black dress be worn at a funeral? I am a member of the immediate family.

Answer: A short-sleeved dress at a funeral would not do at all. Certainly it must have sleeves coming below the elbow and gloves coming up above the ending of the sleeves. Neck must also be cut fairly close to throat and the skirt long, according to present fashion.

Needle Point

Dear Mrs. Post: Do you think it suitable to upholster dining-room chairs in needle-point?

Answer: Dining room chairs upholstered in needlepoint are beautiful. The only reason why they are so seldom seen is that few people are able to provide themselves with so great a quantity of needlework.

Brooklyn Taking Flier at Swank

New De Luxe Special Delivery Service for Expectant Mothers

By JEAN MEEGAN (AP Newsfeature Writer)
New York, Nov. 5 (AP)—Brooklyn is taking a flier at "Swank." The borough has a new delivery service for expectant mothers that enables them to make the final mad dash from their homes to the hospital in a limousine.
And all for only two dollars.
Pounder Daniel Lissner got the idea a year ago as he listened to a doctor who delivered his youngest son because she wouldn't get to the hospital in time.
"You can't tie taxis down for maternity cases," Lissner says. "I thought, 'Today we've got 14 taxis down for 40 cases a day.'"
Lissner's optimistic slogan is: "We beat the stork." The ladies can only go in the grand manner, but so far they've all made it on time.
Expectant fathers, never noted for logic or stoicism, phone the service and scream: "Get here right away! This is an emergency!"—and hang up. The old troupers at the Morro Limousine Service patiently stand by for the gentleman to call back with the name and address.

Anxious fathers-to-be often ring back frantically. "I called a half an hour ago. Where are you? We need you right now."
Dispatchers and drivers, wise in the way of their work, ask: "Is this your first child, mister?" (Repeaters don't get into such a frenzy) and soothe the parent with: "Our statistics show you got lotsa time. Relax."

Lissner says: "We're supposed to be strictly a limousine service, but before we're through, we're psychiatrists, birth consultants, Dutch uncles, and confessors. Just try handling about 40 expectant mothers—and fathers—a day."
Lissner claims that his men can make any call in Brooklyn in 10 minutes. (A stork run outside the borough costs more.)
On account of the specialty of the house, chauffeurs are given a good elementary course in first aid . . . and carry smelling salts for the father of the future president.
"The ladies aren't any trouble," the boys say, "sometimes they just call up from wherever they are—the beauty parlor or the movies. They don't get as nervous as the men."

Major Candidates

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP)—Thumbnail sketches of major party candidates in today's elections:

Housing Costs Rise With Linoleum Boost

Washington, Nov. 5 (AP)—Housing costs rose again today as O.P.A. raised its price ceilings for felt base linoleum floor and wall coverings by 12 per cent.
The agency said most of the increase resulted from higher costs of linseed oil which it added has nearly doubled in price since it was decontrolled last week.
Higher costs of this oil also accounted for a 24 per cent increase in prices of most paints announced yesterday.
Previously O.P.A. upped ceilings on enameled bathtubs, sinks and other plumbing as well as hardwood flooring, plaster lath and a number of other lumber items required in most homes.

War Department Hearing on Rondout Harbor Here Thursday

J. A. Dwyer Will Present Argument for Improvement

Army Engineers Await Expression of Sentiment Among People Most Concerned

Boat Graveyard

Esopus Side of Creek Used as Graveyard for Old Boats

James A. Dwyer, of Dwyer Brothers, Inc., is assembling data and information to be used as an argument for improvement of the Rondout harbor, when the question is discussed at a meeting with the U. S. Army Engineers representatives at the county court house, Thursday, at 1:30 p. m.

Mr. Dwyer is head of the Naval Reserve Unit Committee of the Chamber of Commerce which has been active in setting up details for the meeting.

The Army Corps of Engineers sent invitations to a large number of representative firms and individuals several weeks ago, and the list has been augmented at Mr. Dwyer's request.

Attending the meeting in addition to those listed some time ago include the Kingston Yacht Club, Ben Rhymer, Island Dock, Sam Stone, David Gill, Jr., Inc., and Barney Millens.

Mr. Dwyer has urged a full attendance at Thursday's meeting. Commenting on the importance of representative representation, Mr. Dwyer said:

"The Rondout creek has for many years played an important part in the economic life of Kingston and we, as citizens of Kingston, should strive to further its usefulness."

The Army Engineers already have made a preliminary examination of the Rondout waterfront and now await an expression of sentiment among the persons and organizations most directly concerned with such a program. Funds for the completion of the project are available through the Rivers and Harbor Act of July, 24, 1946.

Col. W. F. Heavey, district engineer of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, said in a letter to interested parties that oral statements will be heard but for the accuracy of records, all important facts and arguments should be submitted in writing, as the records of the hearing will be forwarded for consideration by the War Department.

The Esopus side of the Rondout creek for years has been used as the graveyard for old and worn out vessels, and the public hearing has been called by the War Department to establish public desire for improving the Rondout Harbor by eliminating the graveyard, and making that side of the creek more sightly.

Chief Engineer Ambrose F. Brennan of the Albany district said that the purpose of the hearing would be to assemble data and sound out public sentiment for the project.

All data collected at the hearing will be transmitted to the New York district office in New York with formal action to be started by that organization.

Sponsors of the improvement have been instructed to present pertinent factual material bearing upon the general plan of improvement desired, and the economic justification of the undertaking.

Opposing interests, if any, are urged to state the reasons for opposition to the proposed project.

tion desired by the War Department includes:

The extent of the improvement believed to be desirable.

The probable effect of the proposed improvement on commerce and business, including the effect on pleasure boating.

Description and location of property that would be available to the United States, free of cost, for disposal of dredged material.

The War Department also requests information as to whether or not any cash contribution toward the cost of the improvement can be expected by the United States from local government or other public or private interests.

Additional information desired from commercial interests includes:

Extent of existing commerce or tonnage handled annually in the Rondout creek.

Estimated annual savings to the commerce interests from proposed improvement.

Character of vessels now plying the Rondout, giving dimensions, draft, and tonnage when fully loaded.

War Delayed Action

The Rondout Harbor project has been under consideration for several years, but action was delayed because of World War 2. Earlier this year the Corps of Engineers of the War Department sent a representative to Rondout to make a preliminary survey of conditions and then decided to crystallize action through a public hearing.

No plans for the project have been mapped by the War Department, and the scope of the project will depend entirely upon public response to the hearing Thursday.

Desire has been expressed over a long period of time by residents and boat company officials of the Rondout area to have the harbor dredged and cleaned up.

For many years the old battered hulks of tugboats, barges and other craft have been rotting in the creek. They have made an ugly eyesore for years.

No official cost of the dredging and improvement of the waterfront has been made by the War Department, according to Chief Engineer Brennan, who inspected the harbor last month.

He expressed the opinion, however, that if the project was approved the War Department would do a thorough job that would include dredging of the creek, reinforcing of the docks and removal of all the old boats and barges from the graveyard on the other side of the creek.

Extends Several Miles

The stretch of Rondout creek that has been used to berth old worn-out craft extends from a point near the old lighthouse up the creek to the Wilbur railroad bridge.

The great majority of the craft are old barges which, when they outlived usefulness were beached.

Old docks along the Rondout creek on the Esopus side have not been used in many years, especially that stretch of creek front extending from the old landing of the Skillypot ferry to Sleighsburch to a point near the village of Connelly.

When the D. & H. Canal was in operation these docks were in constant use.

For a number of years the dock opposite the Cornell Shops was used by the Hudson River Day Line for the berthing of the old steamers Mary Powell and Albany. The dock for years prior had been known as the "rat dock" but when the steamboat concern took it over and reconditioned it, it was renamed the Sunflower Dock.

Invited to Attend

Invitations have been extended to the following organizations and citizens to attend the hearing Thursday: R. Lenehan Co., Reliance Marine Transportation and Construction Co.; Callanan Road Improvement Co.; Rondout Shipyard Corp.; Cornell Steamboat Co.; Texas Oil Co.; Ulster Distributing Co.; Colonial Beacon Oil Co.; Hiltobert Dry Dock Co.; and Dwyer Lightering Corp.

Representing various organizations and the city and county will be Sheriff George C. Smith, Mayor W. F. Edelmuth, Donald F. Williams, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce; John D. Schoonmaker, James Dwyer, James F. Loughran, Stewart Randall, Raymond Garrahan, Herman Gottfried, Harry Rigby, and Edward E. Murray, chairman of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors.

Finds Christian Faith And Living Effective

Christian faith and living are the materials that make religion truly effective, was the central thought that the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, pastor of the Reformed Protestant Dutch Church, Kingston, left with a large congregation Sunday morning, when he spoke on "The Slave Boy Who Became a Bishop."

The Rev. Mr. Oudemool used the story in St. Paul's letter to Philomen, from the New Testament, to illustrate the lesson.

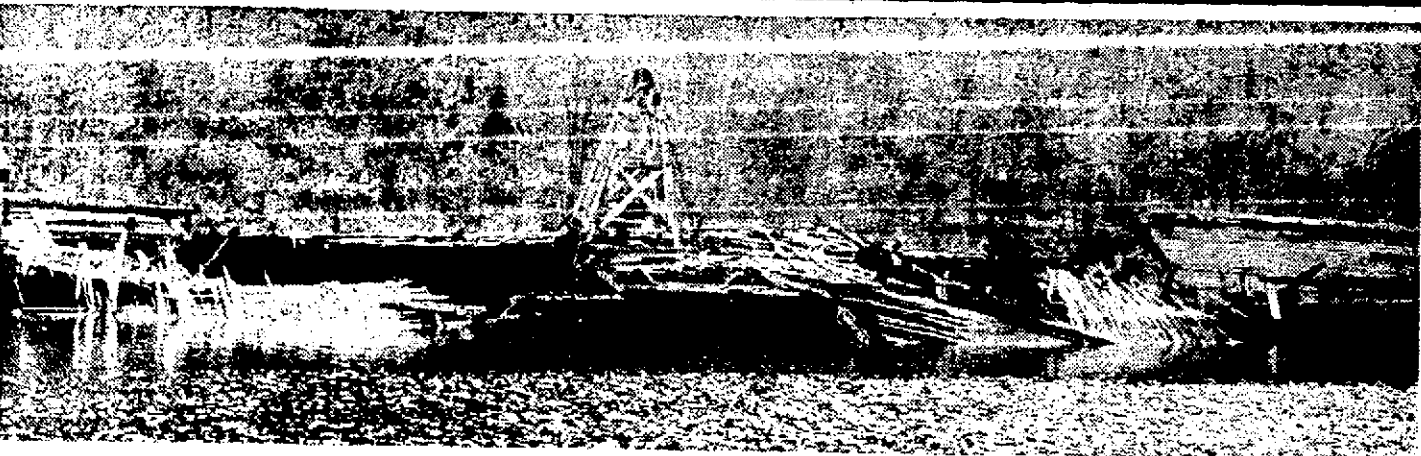

The speaker touched also upon the wisdom of sincere gospel living as a definite weapon against philosophies and teachings that today destroy good character and sound citizenship.

Plan to Clear Rondout Creek Ship Graveyard

A hearing to determine what steps are to be taken to clear the Esopus banks of the Rondout creek of sunken ships will be held Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the court house by the War Department.

Views of the graveyard for old vessels were taken by The Freeman photographer in that stretch of creek between the West Shore railroad bridge and the shores opposite the shops of the

Sutliff Points Out Night Driving Is Most Hazardous

Night driving, safety experts are finding out, is far more dangerous than daylight driving and for this reason extra care should be given to the car's lighting system, according to a statement today by

Rev. M. Swier, president of Colonial City Chevrolet.

"The studies made by these students of traffic problems," he said, "are bringing to light much valuable information. For one thing, accidents which happen at night lead to more deaths than those which occur in daytime. In fact, 61 per cent of traffic fatalities last year came from night driving. Accident figures also show that the most dangerous time and place for driving is along a city street between 3 and 4 in the morning, while the safest time is between 9 and 10 a. m.

"Contrary to common belief, city streets are safer for night driving than country roads. Last year 9,500 fatalities occurred on country roads at night while in the city the night death rate was 8,000.

Kingston Theatre Happiness Quiz

Based on Motion Picture, 'Nobody Lives Forever'

A happiness quiz will be conducted by Reade's Kingston Theatre in conjunction with the picture, "Nobody Lives Forever," which will be shown there beginning Sunday, November 10.

The quiz aims to find out the following questions, which require a "yes" or "no" answer:

Happiness, like charity begins at home; money is the most important requirement of real happiness; there can be no true happiness without true love. Like John Garfield's "Nick" in "Nobody Lives Forever," a person should seek his own happiness, even at the expense of others; there is more real joy in giving than in receiving; a person cannot know the meaning of happiness before the age of 40. In addition to answering the above questions the following line must be completed in less than 25 words: "Since nobody lives forever, the most important basis of true happiness is . . ."

Replies should be mailed to the Kingston Theatre not later than Thursday, November 7.

Pennsylvania Offers Apology to Princeton

Philadelphia, Nov. 5 (AP)—The University of Pennsylvania formally apologized to Princeton University for the disturbance last Saturday on Franklin Field after the Penn-Princeton football game when mounted and foot policemen were used to quell a demonstration but said "at no time did they request the assignment of police."

Following Saturday's game in which the Tigers upset George Minger's Red and Blue team 17 to 14, hundreds of the 72,000 spectators rushed on the field and upended goal posts while police tried to hold back the crowds.

One person was treated for injuries and one Penn and two Princeton students were held for the grand jury in $300 bail each on charges of inciting a riot.

In Penn's formal statement, issued last night, Dr. George McClelland, president of the University, said the school "offers its sincere apologies to Princeton University" and regret exceedingly the unfortunate incident.

"The University of Pennsylvania offers its sincere apologies to Princeton University. It was a hard-fought game between friendly institutions which resulted in a well-earned victory for Princeton. Pennsylvania is deeply sorry for the aftermath."

Army-Notre Dame Game Presents Plenty of Angles

By FRANK ECK

AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

New York—There are more angles to the Army-Notre Dame football game than the two rival coaches care to admit. One they fail to discuss is the possibility of the year No. 1 pigskin struggle turning into a four defensive battle.

While both the Cadets and the Irish pack powerful offensive weapons, coaches Earl Blaik of West Point and Frank Leahy of South Bend, are so bent on achieving victory in their clash on Saturday, November 9 there exists the very important possibility that they might instruct their quarterbacks to play mechanical football, to wit:

Kick on third down, sit back and wait for the other fellow to make the mistakes, which coaches prefer to call "the breaks."

Fifteen of the 32 previous meetings have been close. Three ended in deadlocks and two were decided by one point. That is where the educated toes of Fred Early of Notre Dame and Jack Ray of Army could very well decide this football game of football games, provided, of course, they get a chance to try for extra points.

The first one-point margin of the series, started in 1913, came in 1930, the year a great Notre Dame eleven won all 10 games. Frank Carideo, All-America quarterback of that era, place-kicked the extra point in the last quarter for a 7-6 Irish triumph.

Carideo made 26 other extra points that year and Early, who played at Notre Dame in '43 and '45 and for Navy in '44, appears well on his way to topping Carideo's feat. In Notre Dame's first four games this fall, Early place-kicked 17 one-pointers.

The other one-point win occurred in the 1933 meeting when Buddy Bonar waited for the Army game to score his only tally of the campaign, a last quarter dropkick that meant a 13-12 Irish victory in a season that brought only five touchdowns for Notre Dame. Bonar's point after touchdown kick, incidentally, was the only one he ever attempted in college football.

Both Leahy and Blaik naturally are hopeful they will get the opportunity to use their point after touchdown specialists. Early probably is the best man at adding the extra point in college ball. That's his only football job at South Bend.

At West Point, they use Ray as a guard replacement when he is not kicking extra points. Against Columbia he made six out of seven conversions but in the Duke test he made one and missed two.

The game could very well mean the national championship.

One thing is certain. Notre Dame will not sustain anything like the 59-0 or 48-0 drubbing of the past two seasons. Those 107 points in two games are more than West Point compiled in the last 19 previous years. The Irish are fighting mad even though there are only three Irishmen on the starting eleven.

Amateur Radio Fan Helps Snowbound Folk

Canton, O., Nov. 4 (AP)—Quick work by a local amateur radio fan brought help yesterday to nearly 300 motorists caught in a "terrific snow storm" some 1,750 miles away in New Mexico.

Paul L. Hughes, a navy operator on a Catalina patrol plane during the war, was listening on the 10-meter band when he caught a message, "trapped in terrific snow storm 65 miles west of Albuquerque. Can you get help?"

Hughes learned nearly 300 motorists were battling the storm, moving at snail's pace or stalling when they ran out of gasoline.

Switching on his transmitter, he sent an emergency call and raised an Albuquerque amateur, Roy A. Roger, who notified the New Mexico state police. The rescue party was under way 26 minutes after the call for help.

Hughes later contacted the sender of the distress call and learned it was Dale L. Hauck, of Battle Creek, Mich., another amateur radio fan, whose car was equipped with a mobile transmitter.

Chinese Attack Towns South of Chefoo Area

Peiping, Nov. 5 (AP)—Chinese Communists, attempting to divert the government from its Chefoo offensive, today attacked numerous towns along the Tsingtai-Tsinan railway, 120 miles to the south.

They also were rushing reinforcements from southern Shantung province to the Chefoo area, where severe fighting raged for that and other port cities.

There was a virtually complete news blackout on the government's twin campaigns to crush the Communists in the Dairen and Chefoo areas—a policy the government adopted several weeks ago and has followed since.

WOODSTOCK

Woodstock, Nov. 5—Halloween has passed for another year, leaving in its wake the usual evidence of its having been. The Woodstock window-washer is reported to have left his bed at 5 a. m. on the first, in order to get an early start for a busy day.

Deanie Elwyn returned to town after a two weeks vacation in Windale. Accompanying him on his return were Mrs. Howard Capp, a sister of Mr. Elwyn, and her daughter, Lowell, who will spend a few days in town visiting relatives.

Due to the alleged negligence of a smoker, the Woodstock Fire Company was called to Deanie's Restaurant around 4 p. m. Friday afternoon. However, the fire which originated in the waste bucket in the men's room had already been extinguished by Sterling Wolven by the time the engine arrived.

Louis Lewis entertained at a dinner party Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Fitzpatrick entertained at an evening party Saturday night at their home, Fantasy Farm, in Woodstock. Among those attending were Doris Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Belmont Towbin, Mrs. Vladimir Padwa, Mr. and Mrs. "Bud" West, the Eugene Ludins, Mr. and Mrs. Reggie Wilner, Mr. and Mrs. William Pachner, Miss Muriel Rose and Miss Jean Lasher.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Towbin returned to New York for the winter on Sunday.

Julius Simpson of Lake Hill resigned himself to his yearly window washing at the Trading Post. The date of this event is cleverly set for the morning following Halloween.

Woodstock is pressing its best bids and tuckers in anticipation of the forthcoming American Legion Dance, to be held at the Town Hall November 11. The committee in charge of the dance is hopeful of having a large attendance, and promises a good evening's entertainment.

Mrs. Peggie Kinns arrived home Monday evening in order to vote here Tuesday.

Mrs. Malcolm Rose spent the week-end in New York visiting her grandmother.

Peter Whitehead entertained a small group of friends at dinner and bridge last Saturday night at his home in Byrdcliffe.

A celebration was held over the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stoutenburgh in honor of their son, Erik's first birthday. The party also marked the birthdays of Lauren Stoutenburgh and Mrs. Elizabeth Hutton and the christening of Lauren Lewis Stoutenburgh, Jr. The party later

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

As I Was Saying—

Philadelphia, Nov. 5 (AP)—Patrolman Harold Hemmerle told his superiors he heard a woman scream. As he went to assist her he spotted a man fleeing with a pocketbook. Hemmerle turned and gave chase to the man, who dropped the pocketbook and escaped.

When the officer returned to learn the woman's name, she was gone—and so was her purse.

Fair and Warner

Kansas City, Nov. 5 (AP)—Weather Forecaster J. R. Lloyd is happy about the weather he deals with here.

He picked enough ripe strawberries from his garden for Sunday dinner. Lloyd lives on high ground where the heavier cold air naturally flows to low areas, leaving his strawberry patch untouched.

"Ripe strawberries in November," he said, "seem to me to be something worth recording."

Patient Relieved

Chicago, Nov. 5 (AP)—Hyman Edelman, 67, a retired tailor, didn't recognize the two men who walked into the hospital room where he is a patient and greeted him cheerfully.

"Dave sent us," one of the visitors said. "Is there anything we can do for you. Don't worry about your bills."

Edelman, believing they were friends of his brother, David, told them he didn't need any help, and pointed to a small bag on his bedside table. As the men left one picked up the bag, which Edelman said contained $1,500.

He couldn't chase them. He is suffering from sore feet.

Big Haul

Joliet, Ill., Nov. 5 (AP)—There was only one hitch in the plans by the Cantigny Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, for the cornerstone-laying ceremonies for its new building.

Some husky thieves stole the 350-pound cornerstone.

Please Don't Go!

Johannesburg (AP)—First new immigrants to the Union of South Africa are likely to be printers and nurses. The government printing works is so short-staffed that application has been made to fly a government plane to Britain to bring back compositors. Shortage of nursing staff has necessitated the closing of a section of the Groot Schuur Hospital, the largest in Cape Province, and permission has been given to recruit staff in England.

Spanish Leftists Blamed For Blasts in Madrid
Madrid, Nov. 5 (AP)—Spanish Leftists were blamed today for 14 bomb blasts before Madrid food stores last night, which some sources described as a part of a "month of agitation" designed by Leftists to coincide with the discussion of Spanish problems by the United Nations.

One bystander was injured. A semi-official source said that more than 200 persons earlier reported arrested in the last fortnight during police raids included the entire central committee of the Spanish Communist Party.

Household Storage Rates Are Still Under Control

Household storage rates remain under price control despite published reports to the contrary.

Lester W. Herzog, district director of the 16-county Albany area of the Office of Price Administration, said today.

"No firm," continued Mr. Herzog, "may increase such rates unless an application is made to O.P.A. and an adjustment granted."

Mr. Herzog also called attention to the hardship which may be inflicted on servicemen who have had household goods in storage while awaiting discharge from service or making plans for moving into new quarters when they become available.

Two Persons Hurt In Local Accidents

Two persons were injured, but not seriously, when knocked down by automobiles yesterday in the city, according to police reports. One was Mrs. Gertrude C. Young of Port Ewen and the other Audrey Greenridge of 117 North Front street.

Mrs. Young was struck and knocked down by an auto operated by Fred D. Smith, Jr., of 338 South Wall street, as he was backing into a parking space on Cornell street at noon Monday. Mr. Smith conveyed Mrs. Young to the Kingston Hospital where an examination disclosed she had suffered sprains to both wrists.

Audrey Greenridge, aged 7 years, was injured when she ran into the side of an auto driven by Miss Agnes Scott Smith of 189 Fair street. Miss Smith was driving on Washington avenue, and when near the intersection of North Front street, she said that the girl had run into the side of her auto.

Miss Smith conveyed the girl to the Kingston Hospital where she was treated for a bruised knee.

Today's Youth

By KATHERINE F. LENBOOT
Chief, U. S. Children's Bureau
Written Exclusively for AP Features

Washington—In the days ahead our young people are going to have to live in a much smaller world than the one we now know. They will have to meet and deal with people of many races, many religions, many cultures, and many political opinions.

There will have to be give-and-take all up and down the line, not as between superiors and inferiors, but between equals. Our young people will need the know-how that is based upon a genuine interest in other people and a willingness to learn from them.

How well are we equipping them for such a role?

The schools, it seems to me, have the major responsibility. Parents, too, can help. Their own attitude is an important factor. They are, however, not the only ones influencing their children, and for that reason they should be on the alert to combat a super-patriotic attitude whenever it makes itself evident.

For instance, a boy or girl makes a bland statement that the Chinese are thus and so, or the Russians, or the English, offer counter-evidence, if it is at hand, but if not, appeal to the young person's good sense. What would he think if he heard an Englishman, or a Russian, or a Chinese make such a statement about what all Americans are like? Parents can also put in the way of their children books and other materials that will stimulate an interest in other people.

The importance of cultivating in youth a friendly and interested attitude in other peoples cannot
